

BLACK WHITE & PINK
BALL

TRACY WARMAN-GRIES

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

CASA VOLUNTEER | MENTOR

Tracy Warman-Gries has worked in Information Technology her entire professional career, having enjoyed the last 18+ years at NetApp managing Project Managers and serving as a Finance PMO (Program Management Office) Manager. Tracy currently leads the Women-in-Technology for the Pacific Coast at NetApp, focusing on lifting up women in the workplace. Tracy is passionate about mentoring and coaching at work and in her free time – especially serving as a volunteer for Child Advocates of Silicon Valley. Tracy has most recently focused her advocacy on children and adults with special needs. Tracy's parents served as foster parents for 21 children in her youth and she saw the positive impact her family had on those children, ultimately leading Tracy to Child Advocates. In her free time, Tracy enjoys photography, scrapbooking and card making, and reading – especially at the beach!